We Cannot Afford Strikes

IT WOULD be convenient if someone could point he finger at one thing in the dangerous breakdown of labor discipline and pay, "Fix instand every thing will be fine."

It said that eary. The trouble lies in many places. Labor has been made unearly by constantly increasing eight of creeping inflation inrestening its security. It has been encouraged to believe that it can get anything it wants if it makes enough trouble. It has been encouraged, also, to believe that whatever it wants it should Employers' hands have been tled increasingly since the advent of the New Deal 10 years ago by measures designed to place responsibility for production in the hands of union officers and various government officials-and it is painfully evident now that they are unable to acquit themselves of that responsibility in an emergency. But that is not the only weakness.

In the country as a whole there is flabby discipline among the people. It has been too long since Penil Herbor and the threat of actual invasion. The Americans who are doing the lighting are thousands of miles away. When they get killed, their bodles are buried in a foreign land. Those who manage to get home on leave are cleaned up and rested when they make their public apprarances.

When they attempt to put their feelings about the war into words, as Capl. Rickenbacker has been doing, they are jumped on bitterly by shelfered crifics at home who suspect them of some kind of evil-doing. Here at home we are still too busy worrying what we are going to get out of the war to think seriously about what the war is going to take out of us before we can hope to win It.

Americans are trampling each other in the beginning of panicky retreat from the reality of war. The job to be done now-immediatelyis to quell the panic. There is no escape. There is vastly more to it than earning war wages and keeping abreast of the cost of living. There is more to it than retaining all the privileges of peacetime while producing for war. There is more to it than working or not working, obeying or not obeying, rawhiding or leafing, according to whim. There is sacrifice. There is blood, foil, sweat and tears. Our allies know tais. We are still learning.

War is a test of discipline, in the front lines. in the service of supply leading up to the front lines, in the production centers feeding the war machine and throughout the population. Hitler, Mussolini and the Jap schemers figured out hefore this thing started that they could win because Americans lacked discipline. They were too interested in themselves, the intalitarians said, to make the sacrifices required by war,

They were wrong. This country has proved that it is not going to be pushed over the way the Nazis pushed over France. It has accomplished miracles so far, but it needs to keep on accomplishing more miracles. It cannot afford strikes. No matter how great the provocation may seem to be, it cannot afford them. We do not expect our fighting men on the seas and in the hot spots to quit fighting because they are dissatisfied - and they sometimes are - and we cannot ask our fighting men to expect us to quil producing.

Strikes are not going to make this country and its allies lose the war, but they could if they kept on growing. They are not going to keep on growing. Americans are going to assert themselves against a thing they know in their bearts to be wrong and shameful. If their leaders me too befuddled or too cowardly to express what the people feel, they will have to raise up new leaders who will express themselves. Thus is war. The enemy won't wait while we measure out the soothing syrup and unlangle the red tape. He will try to take advantage of our weakness, kill more of our fighting men and increase the menace to the country.

There is no provocation, no grievance and no peeve in wartime that justifies a halt in pro-

Nutritional Goals

ONE of the items that has leaked out of that closely censored food conference of Hot Springs is agreement of the delegates on seeing that their countries' populations are better fed in the post-war world. To help in this worthy project, nutritional goals are going to be established.

This is an early bid for adoption by whatever committee sets the standard for the United States of a rule that after the war coffee shall not be made without coffee, nor shall beef stew he made without beef. While the subject is open, let there also be a rule against serving iced tea without ice, mashed potatoes that are not mashed and creamed chicken without chicken.

These are minor points, perhaps, but who will deny that in the post-war world, as in the pre-war world, they won't be the cause of more distress than the absence of a plentiful supply of leafy green vegetables, which is what we are afraid the nutrition experts are getting ready to stuff down our throats?

Civilian Supply Bill Would Pave Way for OPA and WPB Housecleaning.

The dea originated from Joseph Weiner, in the age of Mr. Nelson's minor division of et alian supply-Majorn area od to have stopped this pressure not only by his epposition to the bill, but by supplanting Weiner with a friend, Arthur Whiteside. It now develops that Weiner has been kept on in WPB, hardly with the approval of Nel-

Reports also persist that Prentiss Brown, OPA director, an unhappy man if ever there was one, will take the job in charge of a civilian supply hoard if the measure passes the house. He, too, has not been permitted to clean house freely in his agency. It is still full of the old Henderson crowd. Congressmen surmise the presidential after ego, Harry Hopkins, has been functioning from the White House to preserve friends in both WPB and OPA.

The bill has been held up in house banking committee to sound out thoroughly how great an explosion II will cause in both WPB and QPA if passed.

Invasion Signal?

The most common outside supposition here is that the northeastern scabpard gas crisis is a sign of coming greater air attacks in Europe and probably invasion. It is true invasion of North Africa started shortly after the last ban on pleasure driving, it is known, also, the Army and Navy mad exceptionally heavy demands for gas and oil in the New York and Philadelphia areas about a month

What might be called the officlat inside story offers several sulficient technical reasons for a temporary shortage, perhaps not one of the two months duration which is promised. The pipeline break due to floods anut off onefifth of the normal eastern supply

WASHINGTON, May 27—An in- i for a few days. It already has been mended Last week, the east-throughout the highest circles of ern seaboard received the largest tank car delivery in all history-980,000 barrels. The figure would have been more than 1,000,000 ex-cashed (apparently there is a loophole in this phase) when some gasoline stations were, shutting down increasing demands on others.

Sympathy for Lewis

Suspicion is rather general among congressmen that some of these unexplained recent brist strikes are designed by labor leaders to work the same way that John L. Lewis has been working -against the "Little Steel" pricewage formula in favor of price roll backs and against the War Labor Board, Certainly, they all ex-pressed pressure in that direction. While all national labor leadership has been publicly anti-Lewis, there is considerable substantial evidence to suggest that he is getting secret sympathy in certain quarters. Certainly the United Auto Workers (Chrysler strike) have been almost openly sympa-

But Lewis is encountering a difficult technical situation. Ickes has obviously tried to lean the miners' ways for a settlement several times, as could be expected in view of his political historical background. But the War Labor Board is jealous. It let every-one know its integrity would have to be considered before any appeasement of Lewis could be worked out by politicians.

Busy with War

Mr. Roosevelt has been so busy with war planning, he has not even been able to see the bickering house and senate tax conferees throughout their days of deadlock. When they applied to the White House for a private conference and guidance, they were referred to the treasury department.

Past Price Freezing Attempt Called Economic Absurdity; Subsidies Urged.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

NOW THAT the OPA has broken signing a treaty to outlaw it. As a matter of fact, the Amertion which is inevitable cannot be successful unless we recognize that no one could possibly have an economic absurdity, and in made a success of OPA. It is easy practice a most curious deception. to put the blame on Mr. Henderson and his lawyers, on Mr. Prentiss Brown and his politicians and public relations men. But in fact OPA has failed because it was founded on a popular fullacy-on the fallacy that if you freeze all prices, including wages, by legal decrees you can keep them frozen at a time when war requires a radical readjustment of production and consumption.

There is no use blaming the administration because the fallacy is now proved to be unworkable. The truth is that the fallacious doctrine was imposed on Mr. Henderson by public pressure against his better judgment, and the trouble with the administration is that it tacked the conviction and resource to resist the pressure and to lay down a sound doctrine and a workable plan. Thus for two years it has administered badly a policy which no one could have administered well.

Not Attempted Eisewhere In no other country in the world have men imagined that all prices could be kept frozen by decree. Hitler did freeze all prices, wages and profits three years before the war. But Hitler backed up the decrees by the complete regimentation of industry and agriculture, by the conscription of labor, by his ruthless police and by the concentration camp. Even at that, with all that power behind the decrees, he has had to use also the devices of subsidies, equalization funds and requisitioning.

How any one could have supnosed that we could make the freeze work by unarmed decrees from OPA is mysterious only if we remember how many Amerreans have believed that liquor ! drinking could be abolished by prohibiting and war outlawed by; to get it produced, the difference ican experiment in universal pricefreezing has been from the start practice a most curious deception. in 1942-'43 the total net production has been, let us say, $110,-000,000,000 of goods, of which say $50,000,000,000 were military. These goods at the various stages of production represent several billion prices and wage rates. Of all these prices at least half, those paid by the war agencies, have been outside the freeze.

The Army, quite recently, has paid what it had to pay in order to procure its weapons. These military prices have priority over civilian. Why has any one who ever took an elementary course in economics supposed that Mr. Henderson, Mr. Brown or any one else could keep a rigid ceiling on the civilian price structure when within the price structure there were rolling around and flying around the Army, the Navy and all their expensive warships, tanks, airplanes and what not? Subsidies Believed Justified,

The object of the price fixing of rationed necessities-food, fuel, clothing, housing, transportation is social, not financial; to maintain the efficiency of the people in their war work. For that reason, rationing, subsidies and the controt of civilian supply are justified. provided they are administered so as to insure the possible and the necessary total production,

The true line of reorganization is that proposed in the Jenkins bill, and very ably advocated on the floor of the house of representatives by Representative Herter of Massachusetts. It is to place in the hands of Mr. Chester Davis, who is responsible for the production of food, the rationing and pricing of 100d as well.

Then, if Mr. Davis cannot sell food at reasonable retail prices after he has paid adequate prices should be made up in the form of some kind of subsidy. The same principle ought to be applied elsewhere, for example, to all fuciswhether oil or coal-and the whole business of pricing and rationing

Then Mr. Davis, Mr. Ickes and the other controllers of the production and distribution of essentials, should become a price committee, presided over by Byrnes, to determine general pol-coming more of a problem every day, many cities are resurrecting and enforcing old curiew laws or are adopting new ordinances to keep children off the streets at night.

The American Municipal association reports the number of curfew ordinances has increased so greatly in the last six months that now from 10 to 90 per cent of all cities in each state have adopted this method of controlling

However, the association said, delinquency can be corrected only by healthy, happy and secure children, not by ringing curiew. Not enough attention has been paid to proper recreational programs and, in an emergency, children who have nothing to occupy their minds start roaming the streets seeking adventure.

For the most part curfew laws follow a general pattern requiring children under 16, or sometimes 18, to be home by a specified time ranging from 8 until 10 o'clock. Some local ordinances require children either to be accompanied by parents or legal guardian or to carry a written permit. Though legal responsibility varies, with most ordinances putting the entire penalty for violation on the child, more recent laws provide for the punishment of parents. Everybody talks about the war. He s is the one fellow who will be left alone when the others are cutting up touches going to amuse himself?

Should he be given a deck of cards so he can play solitaire while the others are off somewhere chewing the rag? the "Freighters." "Freighters' were a class of middlemen who transacted business between the farmer, the railroad and the New York dealer in farm produce, and his presence in the traffic was the beginning of the great commission business of New York today," Mr. Woodruff said.

The freighter received, loaded and took to New York all kirvis of goods placed in his charge. He found a market for them, sold them and returned the proceeds to his customers, less a commission. He hired cars of the railroad company for his purpose, and was independent of any interference on the part of the company in the loading of them. The men in charge of these cars had the title of captain, and indeed, many of them had been Hudson River skippers whose business the railroad had ruined. Middletown was one of their headquarters. #### Death of Teacher Listed as Suicide By The Associated Press

WAUSEON, O., May 27-Coroer H. M. Warner today listed as suicide the death of Miss Bess Schmidt, 34, Los Angeles, Calif., school teacher whose mangled body was found along the New Central tracks near here. The coroner sald the teacher "apparently jumped from a train while mentally distressed over ill health," Earlier, Dr. Warner said lack of blood on the tracks led hlm to believe she might have been killed elsewhere before a train ground over her body.

Dr. Warner said the teacher's sultease was found on a train that had traversed New York Central's main line through here. The case was filled with all her valuables. he added, with a card inside bearing her name and address.

OPA To Give Papers Monthly Price Lists

By The Associated Press WASHINGTON, May 27-The office of price administration has decided to supply to newspapers monthly lists of official prices and required ration points for groceries, a proposal that won the immediate indorsement of the Committee of Newspaper Groups.

OPA outlined the plan yesterday at a meeting with publishers and their spokesmen, and said the newspapers could solicit advertising and build up special sections or pages around the information. The lists will go out to about 300 cities, beginning July 1. They will be made available as printed lists, matrices or engravings, according to local needs, about the 20th of each month, thus allowing about 10 days for newspapers to set up special sections.

Bill Burry was reflecting back on the last war and what the boys used to do when they got a furlough.

"We weren't a hard-drinking bunch particularly, but that was in Prohibition." said Bill, "and forbidden fruit always seems worth goin' after. We'd hunt up a bootlegger, which was easy, and buy a bottle.

"So, instead of a peer or two, well-I guess we generally drank too much! . . . wonder what the boys are doing this time?"

I got out the official report the Office of War Information mace and read him this: "The fact that there is vastly less drinking among soldiers in this war may stem in part from the sale of beer in camps."

From where I sit, it certainly doesn't look as if we had to worry about our boys. We learned our lesson in the last war, and I'm glad to see were on the right track now.

100% WOOL GABARDINE

by Society Brand

Only the finest wool yarns, spun and waven with unhurried care, can produce a Gabardine fabric of such silkey smoothness, such surprising durability. This is Society Brand's formula for giving us a Gabardine of the highest qualityand it's a formula the war hasn't yet changed. One Gabardine suit, at least, is a "must" for every sensibly chosen wartime wardrobe.

stomach is affected by emotions. Fear, anxiety and apprenension that you will not measure up to your responsibility and duty are emotions, and since they are rife in wartime, it is quite natural that we have problems for the heart specialist at this time.

The problems divide themselves into two groups: first, what heart conditions in the recruit are serious enough to warrant rejection for service; and, second, the treatment of the soldier who develops a nervous, irritable heart during active service.

I have just read some of the Just Kids troubles of a heart specialist assigned to a draft board; it takes me back to World War I. The two greatest problems were what to do with an apparently healthy recruit who had a pulse disturbance and what to do with the other-STELLAR operations continue wise healthy recruit whose blood to be of a propitious and ex- pressure was jumpy.
